The lunacy commission heard of her dreadfal story last year and began an investigation. In June last Philip C. Garrett, chairman of the commission, at the national conference of charities and corrections at Washington, thus referred mysteriously to the case:

A beautiful and charming young lady, just out of her teens, used to wealth, is extravegent, and her father, reduced in circumstances, finds himself unable to restrain her habit of spending, concludes she requires custodial care, places her in a hospital, heedless of her earnest protests; he dies and leaves her there; there she has been nearly thirty years, and is now nearly 60 years of age, and still beg- (Harvard A. PHILADELPHIA, June 11, 1885 .- The undereigned officers and members of the committee on lunacy of the board of public charities, having each examined Miss Adriana P. Brinckle, a patient ln the state lunatic hospital, at Harrisburg, Pa., find no evidence of existing insanity, and declare it as their opinion that she should be discharged from said hospital. They further find upon an invertigation of the case, that the alleged cause of her commitment to the hospital was "that she is deficient in judgment, and disposed to extravagant expenditure very limited means." This, in the opinion of the undersigned, is no just cause for her detention in the state hospital, even if such a propensity still exists, which they have no reason to be-
